

iEducate: App-Related Websites

Apps for Children with Special Needs

<http://a4cwsn.com>

An extensive list of special ed related apps, reviews, and videos. A very good resource when looking for new apps.

Autism Spectrum Directory

<http://blog.autismspectrumdirectory.com>

This site has lots of information related to ASD and their apps lists (although a little difficult to navigate) are helpful. Several lists are offered by topics such as non-verbal communication, ABA, and learning social skills. Go to the blog and on the left side of the site, you will see a link for “Teaching Tool: iPad and iPhone Apps”. After clicking on the link, you may need to click “Read More” on the next page to see the full list of options.

Mobile Learning for Special Needs

<http://mobilelearning4specialneeds.wikispaces.com>

More lists of apps, reviews and videos specifically for children with special needs. Check out his lists of topic specific apps when you are looking for new apps to try.

Moms with Apps

<http://momswithapps.com>

Moms With Apps is a collaborative group of family-friendly developers seeking to promote quality apps for kids and families. They regularly offer free or discounted apps on Fridays throughout the year. Look for App Fridays on the right side of the screen.

Pad Gadget

<http://www.padgadget.com>

Pad Gadget is a comprehensive website on all things iPad. You can find app reviews as well as the latest on iPad and its accessories. They highlight many apps and not all are educational. They also post daily deals of apps that are on sale.

Special Needs Apps for Kids

<http://www.snapps4kids.com>

An online community that offers list of apps by category and also provides some reviews of highlighted apps. They also offer links to various Proloquo2Go video tutorials.

SNApps4Kids.com
Special Needs Apps for Kids

Spectronics

<http://www.spectronicsinoz.com/article/iphoneipad-apps-for-aac>

This Australian site boasts what is probably the most complete list of AAC apps in existence. They provide prices, descriptions of apps (what symbol sets they use, customization options, voice output options, and access options), as well as a 3-star rating system.

Teaching Learners with Multiple Needs

<http://teachinglearnerswithmultipleneeds.blogspot.com>

Scroll down to the iPod App Round Up on the home page of this blog. Although the list is dated, you will find several categories of apps that are geared specifically for users with significant disabilities.

Michigan's Integrated Technology Supports (MITS) is a Mandated Activities Project (MAP), funded under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) through the Michigan Department of Education, Office of Special Education and Early Intervention Services.
Visit our website for more information: mits.cenmi.org