

Online Training Collection

by Atomic Learning™

Kelly—Assistive Technology Coordinator

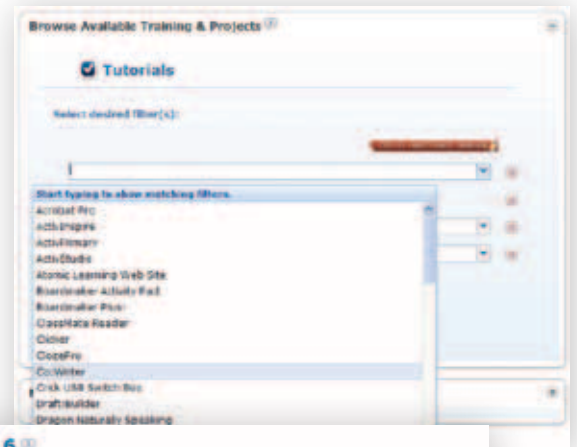

"The online trainings help me make the most of the assistive technology we have!"

You already have some great assistive technology tools. Many of them have had a huge impact on your students, but are your teachers making the most of them?

Don Johnston teamed up with Atomic Learning to solve this problem, and we came up with an exclusive bundle of online trainings—some of which you won't find anywhere else. Subscribers will get unlimited whole-district access to thousands of online tutorials for all of your top assistive technology software and devices.

Features:

- Just-in-time training on accessibility, training, assistive technology software and devices
- Evidence of Learning worksheet for training reflection and implementation planning
- Reports to monitor progress and track user activity
- Administrator tools to assign or recommend training to individuals or groups
- Sharing tools to quickly and easily integrate resources into your school's website

The Don Johnston Online Training Collection includes all of the following trainings:
